

Aventis Systems Celebrates 9th Annual TAG Excalibur Awards

ATLANTA, Georgia – October 18, 2013 – The Technology Association of Georgia (TAG) in collaboration with the Business & Technology Alliance of TAG (B&TA) hosted its ninth annual TAG Excalibur Awards on Friday, October 18, 2013. Since 2011, Aventis Systems has sponsored this inspirational TAG event because of its work with many of the local companies honored each year. The event recognizes Georgia's most innovative organizations that demonstrate the best use of third-party technology solutions to solve complex business problems.

Aventis Systems is a proud member of TAG and was eager to participate for a third year in a row. "Many of our clients use technology solutions to propel their business and foster success," stated Karl Pearl, Vice President of Aventis Systems. "We are committed to providing cost-effective and value-driven technology solutions to a variety of businesses and organizations throughout Georgia."

This year, the TAG Excalibur Awards recognized small, mid-sized, and enterprise companies, public and non-profit organizations, as well as the company with the most creative solution. "We are truly pleased to honor the recipients of the 2013 Excalibur Awards," said Tino Mantella, president & CEO of TAG. "This year's competition was fierce, as we had our largest and best group of entries since our event's origin, eight years ago. We believe celebrating these tech-enabled companies and organizations strengthens our message of Georgia's emerging position as a national leader in technology."
